Internet Culture

Status: active

In thinking about culturally appropriate ways of using technologies like the Internet, the best starting-point is with people -- coherent communities of people and the ways they think together.

Engineering Aspirants

Status: active

During exam lime students get stressful, anxious and worried as the time length is gradually converging towards theboard exams followed by the engineering entrance exams soon after.The purpose of the board exams is to check the subject knowledge and conceptual strength of the student at the wider level. In the home exam the makers of the paper are the teachers who teach you in the class so the papers reflect the same philosophy and the content as done in the class. While the board examsâ€™ paper include the philosoÂ¬phy and content of various experienced teachers which may appear to be different then what you have done in your class. To score very high in such an exam the generalÂ¬isation of your knowledge and concepts is an essential. All the engineering entrance exams are held a short while after the XII Board exams are over. So. the limited time length available is an obvious and biggest of all constraints.

Your Favorite teacher

Status: active

Whose image comes up in your mind when you read the phrase "your favorite teacher"? Whose visage beams through, obscuring all the others? Does a warm glow inside accompany the memory? Probably because something about that teacher was really good for you.

Think about why. What was it about this teacher that has kept a hold on your memory in such a positive way all these years? What was so great about her or him? What did you gain from that class, that year, those courses? What did you take with you that has lasted?
